The total increase in these twenty-nine States and territories is 8,548,663, being a little less than 31 per cent. Dividing the above by sections and omitting the Terri tories which are not allowed represents tories which are not allowed representa-tives in Congress, we find the population of the eighteen Northern States in 1880 to be 25,309,071, against 16,996,595 in 1870, a gain of 27 per cent. The population of the eight Southern States is 10,874,331, against 7,755,885 in 1870, a gain of nearly 42 per cent. The exceptional gains from immigration in the North, are in Kansas, Minnesots, and Nebraska, and in the South in Texas. Now if we omit these 42 per cent. The exceptional gains from immigration in the North, are in Kansas, Minnesota, and Nebraska, and in the South in Texas. Now if we omit these States from our estimates we find the remaining fifteen States of the North to contain a population of 23,067,457, against 19,024,115 in 1870, a gain of 21 per cent, while in the seven Southern States which have received no accession from immigration the population is 9,074,331, against 5,355,348 in 1870, a gain of 31 per cent. The remaining Northern States are Iowa, Indiana, Massachusetts, and Neyada, with a population in 1870 of 4.374, 480. Admitting that these have shared in the Northern gain of 21 per cent, their population now is 5,295,181. The remaining Southern States are Forida, Georgia, Louisiana, Maryland, Missippi, South Carolina, Tennessee and West Virginia, the total population of which in 1870 was 6,113,719. As they are expected to show an increase equal to their isolid sister States, Texas excepted, or 31 per cent, their population will be 8,008,972. On these figures and estimates the population of the United States will be as follows, territories excluded:

The Cheat Practiced is Southern States—
The Object Being to Subtract from the Representation of the North in Congress, and to add to that of the ExConfederates—Practical Disfraschisement of Loyal People.
From the Kingston Freman.
We ventured the suspicion a few days ago that the Southern Democrats were cheating the North in the census of their States, in order to retain their present representation or increase it in the House of Representatives and electoral college. The following returns, official and estimated from twetny-nine States and Territories, are confirmatory of that suspicion:
